TO ERECT LARGE ADDITION TO CHEMICAL BUILDING.

Isaac T. Cook Closes Ninety-Nine-Year Lease of Turner Building Property and Will Build Sixteen-Story Structure on the Site-Rent Will Aggregate $841,500.

WILL BE ONE OF THE MOST IMPOSING EDIFICES IN ST. LOUIS.

The Chemical Building Company is at liberty to tear down the present improvements and erect a building to suit. Owing to the fact that there are several leases on store-rooms and offices occupied in the Turner building, the work of wrecking it may not be commenced until March 1, 1902.

It is impossible to connect the Chemical building with the Turner building on account of the latter's construction. The new building will be connected with the Chemical building and the whole run as one building. The new structure will form a north extension of the west wing of the Chemical building. In the rear of the east wing and connecting the two wings the building will be only one story high, in order to keep the whole well lighted. The first story will be fitted up for storerooms, and above that will be offices in tiers of five.

It is not yet decided who the architects will be, and the plans are only in formation. But it is the intention of the Chemical Building Company to have the new building conform to the Chemical building in appearance as much as possible, and the material used probably will be terra cotta and brick.

Mr. Cook said vesterday that the creation.

Mr. Cook said yesterday that the erection of this new building would undoubtedly cloch the claim of that block as the largest mercantile block in the city. In this block, bounded by Seventh and Eighth streets and Olive and Locust streets, are the Chemical building, the Columbia building, the Union Trust building, the Mercantile Club building, the Laclede Gas Company building, the McLean Sporting Goods Company's building and the Turner building, which is to be replaced by the new building.

The Chemical building, with the new addition, will face 127 feet and 7 inches on Olighthe street and 114 feet and 3 inches on Eighth street. It undoubtedly will be the nmercial structure in St.

Isaac T. Cook, manager and rental agent of the " I building, yesterday closed a ninety-nine-year lease of the Turner building property from the Turner Real Estate Company to the Chemical Building Company. The latter company will wreck the Turner building and erect in its stead a sixteen-story addition to the Chemical building at a cost of $175,600.

The Turner building property is on the sast side of Eighth street, fifty feet north of Olive street, edjoining the Chemical building on the north. It is an eight-story structure on a lot & feet $1 inches by 127 feet and 7 inches. It is said to be one of the best-built buildings in St. Louis, and it was about the first fireproof commercial structure erected in St. Louis.

No property in St. Louis has enhanced more rapidly than that along Washington avenue. In 1877 A. D. Brown bought through Paul Jones & Co. the ground on which the magnificent steel structure occupied by the Hamilton-Brown Shoe Company stands, which is diagonally across from the site of the new structure. Mr. Brown paid $5,000 per foot for the corner $60 feet, and for the inside $50 feet $2,000 per foot. Mr. Brown bought these lots at the very highest market prices prevailing at that time. Many people thought he paid fancy prices, but time has demonstrated the wisdom and judgment of his purchase, the city paid him $4,000 per foot for the 35 feet it used in widening Twelfth street.

At the time Mr. Jones made the Brown deal he also sold to Colonel Stiefel 50 feet on the south side of Washington avenue, 75 feet west of Twelfth street, for $51,000. Colonel Stiefel's estate has since refused over $2,250 per foot for this lot.

His wife and family have been in the East for several months, and they returned with him.

Mr. Banister's trip was not wholly one for pleasure. He is interested in a number of large deals, several of which will be consummated within a few weeks. He will now take active charge of his St. Louis office.

now take active charge of his St. Louis office.

Inquiries about boarding-house property are being received by real estate and rental agents in St. Louis from persons who have made a business of running boarding-houses in all the cities where large fairs have been given since the fair at Chicago. A woman from Buffalo, was in St. Louis last week making inquiries. She said she would come to St. Louis immediately after the Charleston Exposition and obtain an option on a house or several houses to be opened for boarders about two months before the opening of the Fair.

Edward Wyman, the Eighth street real estate dealer, will depart for New York tomorrow. He will be gone several days, and will close up several important deals with a heavy St. Louis end.

Demand for rental property is still heavy, and the supply is short. Inability to secure desirable rental property is causing many renters to buy lots, and the outlook is that many small residences will be built in St. Louis this fall.

More Than Two Millions Represented in Two 98-Year Leases.

The closing of two ninety-nine-year leases on commercial property at rentals aggregating more than $2,000,000, marked the unprecedented in realty circles in St. Louis last week. On the northwest corner of Twelfth street and Washington avenue will be built the largest wholesale dry goods house in the country, and the Turner building will be replaced by a sixteen-story addition to the Chemical building.

Among the realty dealers it is felt that these deals mark only the beginning of several years of the most active building known in St. Louis for many years.

One of the largest manufacturing plants in St. Louis is looking for more room. The firm is expected to close a deal with the 1 sheoln Trust Company for close to 300,000 square feet of building room, and extensive trackage facilities. A building to accommodate this firm will cost more than three-quarters of a million dollars. Other firms are seeking new locations, and figure on building new plants or leasing buildings to be erected for them. When these buildings finally get under way of erection the Cupples district will be duplicated.

The Lincoln Trust Company also has four tenants in buildings on Washington avenue, who are figuring on new buildings. One of these firms will close a deal in a few days for the erection of a building to cost #150,000. The Lincoln Trust Company few days for the erection of a building to cost $150,000. The Lincoln Trust Company expects to close several of these deals with-in a short time for buildings to be built inder its management.

BE A MAN AMONG MEI

A WONDERFUL CURE.

ST. LOUIS, Mo. Dear Doctor-I purchased one of your Belts for a chronic pain in my lack, which I have been suffering from for 12 years. I had been treated by the best doctors in St. Louis and Chicago, without permanent relief. I can truthfully say that your Belt has entirely cured me, and strengthened my whole system wonderfully. 'I can recommend your Belt' to be all you claim it, and would advise any one suffering to consult you. I am, yours sincerely. ALEX. MORRISON.
